What are Neighborhood Councils?

The Neighborhood Council program provides an opportunity for Simi Valley residents to participate in local government at a grass roots level. The City of Simi Valley is divided into four Neighborhood Council districts. Every City resident 18 years and older is a member of their respective Neighborhood Council. The Neighborhood Councils meet once a month to:

- Advise the City Council and Planning Commission on development projects and resident concerns;
- Give developers the opportunity to dialog with residents and address concerns early in the planning process;
- Give residents the opportunity to voice their concerns in a less formal atmosphere than a public hearing before the City Council or Planning Commission.

For more information on your Neighborhood Council or to receive meeting flyers and agendas by e-mail, please visit the City of Simi Valley's website at www.simivalley.org/neighborhoodcouncils or contact Emily Habib, Neighborhood Council Coordinator, at (805) 583-6756.

If any interested individual has a disability that may require accommodation to participate in this meeting, please contact the Neighborhood Council Coordinator at (805) 583-6756. Upon advance notification, reasonable arrangements will be made to provide accessibility to the meeting.
